

Ron Stabinsky enjoys working in stylistically diverse musical contexts throughout the United States and Europe with many musicians and ensembles. These include free-improvising saxophonist Jack Wright, lead trumpet legend Dave Stahl, bass trombone virtuoso David Taylor, NEA Jazz Master David Liebman, innovative trumpeter/composer Peter Evans, and phenomenal drummer/composer Christian Lillinger's "Open Form for Society." Festival appearances include Newport Jazz Festival (Rhode Island), Big Ears Festival (Knoxville, TN), North Sea Jazz Festival (Netherlands), Moers Festival (Germany), Donaueschingen Music Days (Germany), JazzFest Berlin (Germany), Jazzfestival Saalfelden (Austria), Hardly Strictly Bluegrass (San Francisco), and Summerfest (Milwaukee). In 2016, his debut album, Free for One, received four stars in DownBeat and tied for number one debut of the year in the 2016 NPR Music Jazz Critics Poll. He is currently a regular member of numerous groups including Mostly Other People Do the Killing, Relâche, Grassy Sound, Azure Duo, and the Meat Puppets.
